The Contractor-Entrepreneur Operating Audit

Score the company, not your confidence.

Find the weakest business function limiting revenue, margin, cash, or capacity. Score each discipline from 1 to 5, then choose one operating constraint to attack.

DISCIPLINE	PROOF OF CONTROL	SCORE 1-5	SYSTEM OWNER
Marketing	We consistently create the right opportunities - not merely more leads.
Estimating	We price scope, productivity, schedule, uncertainty, and commercial risk.
Contracts	We understand and administer the obligations we accept.
Negotiation	We preserve leverage and refuse terms the company cannot survive.
CPM Scheduling	Our schedule reflects logic, constraints, resources, and contractual time.
Project Control	We document facts, notices, changes, production, and billing evidence.
Accounting + WIP	Our numbers reveal margin, cash, over/under billing, and forecast risk early.
Recruiting	We build talent capacity before growth turns into operational failure.

Interpret the score

- 1 - Personality-dependent: memory, heroics, and owner intervention.
- 3 - Managed: a process exists, but compliance and measurement vary.
- 5 - Repeatable: the system is owned, measured, documented, and improving.

30-day operating move

Do not attack all eight functions at once. Choose the weakest link, assign ownership, and install visible proof of improvement.

Lowest-scoring discipline:

The failure it creates downstream:

The person who will own the system:

The weekly proof of improvement:

The first process, checklist, or meeting rhythm we will install: